HISTORIC PEN HELD AS RELIC.

Used by Franklin in Signing Declaration of Independence.

George Edward McLeland, who lives at 2825 North New Jersey street, Indianapolis, does not have much use for a pen, inasmuch as he is not yet five years old, but he nevertheless has the most interesting pen in Indianapolis. It is the one which Benjamin Franklin signed the Declaration of Independence. His grandfather, Capt. George W. McLeland, who has passed his eighty-sixth birthday, has handed the relic down to the younger George. Capt. McLeland received it from his grandfather, Alexander McLeland, who was a peer in the continental congress.

"Grandfather was a page in that historic congress," said the youthful George's 84-year-old grandfather, "and he was nicknamed 'Bandy' by its members. He gave me this pen, which is made of a wild turkey feather, when I last saw him at our home down in Jefferson county, in 1831.

"You see, I was only a shaver, about as big as young George there, when he gave it to me. He told me that all the men who signed the Declaration of Independence did not use the same pen, and that when Franklin signed it he turned to him and said: 'More, Bandy, you take this and keep it, and now run along and tell the cotton to ring the bell,' and he then, with this pen in his hand, hastened out to the old man at the bell, and the first words of liberty rang out on the air.

"My grandfather lived to be 85 years old, and now that I have passed that milestone, and my days are numbered, I pass the old relic down to you, George, I come very near, however, turning it over to the old shaver boy people when the bell was in Indianapolis a few years ago."

THE HOME CIRCLE.

Pleasant Reveries—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers
as they Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide.

Editor's Note.—It is our desire to make this department one of the most interesting and valuable features of the whole paper. To this end we ask the assistance of our readers. Choice verse and gems of thought will be gladly received. Here are our thanks for anything that our friends have sent or may send.

October.
Can't you sort of settle down? You've been so long away,
That it's mighty good to see you, so contented and gay.
The very woods is welcome as they push the leaves aside
So the sun kin see you passin' in your beauty an' your pride.

The maple's shadin' gold jes' like a spendrift or a king,
An' the little brook is dancin' an'
a tryin' fur to sing.
The ol' gum tree is puttin' on her gorgeous an' best,
Ambitious to outshine the twilight
colors in the west!

You know you're mighty welcome an'
that when you go away
The world keeps gettin' lonesome an'
the skies grow chill an' gray.
We wish you'd stay the whole year
through an' never seek to roam.
Say, can't you sort o' settle down
an' make yourself to home?

A happy fireside is better than a big bank account.
No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of it for another.

Do not let all the sunshine in nature become cloudy since you are growing older.

Times are not near so hard with some men when they want a plug of tobacco as when their wives ask for a pair of shoes.

Life will always be to a large extent what we ourselves make it. Each mind makes its own little world. The cheerful mind makes it pleasant and the discontented mind makes it miserable. "My mind to me a kingdom is" applies alike to peasant and monarch. Life is for the most part but a mirror of our own individual selves.
To the good, the world is good; to the bad, it is bad.

Old age, like time, wears off the glint, and like the gilded furniture of ancient days, people also, become tarnished. At first the whole future is overlaid with gold. How brilliant it is! As the boys and girls grow up the gilt and glitter grow dim, until at last, with the journey done, we stand the present laid bare before us—no gold there—the trappings of the hoped-to-be, musty and forgotten, the brilliancy of attainment dimmed and corroded. And only this is left to us, that far away in the past, the golden glow still hangs over the days of long ago, and for some of us far in the future, a golden mist hangs just behind the sunset, where piling clouds form gates of pearl.

Mark the young man who is coarse and disrespectful to his mother. No route pathway can be hers who shall sustain to him the relation of wife. Not the happiest will be the lot of those who shall come to be his children. Not to be envied is the neighborhood, even, in which he must be reckoned as a citizen. It does not matter what the mental status of that mother is, how old, how best, how decent, the man to whom she is mother owed to her gentleness, kindness, tenderness and consideration. Did she fall back and did the children with superior advantages pass her in the race? But think of her tolls and trials, her devotion and denial, her mind and her years that also gave, that her children might derive the benefit. Think of her sacrifice—no wonder if she fell behind, with her heart in her home, the beds that were hers. There is no rank, no station, no condition that may exempt a manly man from a kind regard for a mother.

In this country the greatest on earth
in most respects, we are not sufficiently instructed in the art of manners. We are rather gruff, and sometimes unapproachable. Manners do not make the man, as the proverb says, but manners make the man much more agreeable. A man may be noble in his heart, true in his dealings, vir-tuous in his conduct, and yet unman-nerly. A gentleness of manners gives the touch to the true gentleman. By good manners we do not mean civilized. This is only a conventional set of rules adopted by what is called

"good society," and many of the rules of etiquette are the essence of rudeness.
Etiquette does not permit gentle people to recognize in the street a man with a shabby coat, though he be their brother. Etiquette is a liar in its "not at home" ordered to be told by acquaintance to callers at inconvenient seasons.
Good manners include many requi-sities, but they chiefly consist in politeness, courtesy and kindness. They cannot be taught by rule, but they may be taught by example.

Go to Work.
Young man, go to work! There is no time to be idle now. You must carve out your own way if it is ever successfully carved. You must carve out your own way through energy, perseverance and pluck. Labor is honorable, and the ignoble are those who will not work. Get you a home. Fence a field and plow it and plant it, and gather around you the comforts of home. And when you have made a character for energy and thrift, ask some young lady to share your home with you. We would say to every young lady, mark these men who are bouncing around attempting to live by their wits, or on the interest of their debts; and when they ask you to share the lot of an aimless life, pass them on, for you cannot afford to marry a man without prosperity or business habits, unless you wish to sell yourself for a mess of pottage. Again we would reiterate, young man, go to work. While ten men watch for chances, one man makes a chance.
While ten men wait for something to turn up, one turns something up; so while ten men fail one succeeds and is called a man of luck, the favorite of fortune. Luck and fortune is the result of honest endeavor, work and toil,
and if you would succeed, go to work.

There is no happiness in life, there is no misery like that growing out of the dispositions which concentrate discrepancy the home. Home should be so truly home that the weary, temperd heart could turn to it anywhere on the dusty highway of life and receive light and strength. What a blessing it is when weary with care and burdened with care and sorrow, to have a home to which we can go, and there in the midst of friends we love, forget our troubles and dwell in peace and quietness. Home is the chief school of human virtue. Its responsibilities, joys, sorrows, smiles, tears, hopes and solitudes form the chief interest of human life.

Sometimes a person's tongue gets them into trouble, watch the tongue;
it is your tongue, it belongs to you,
and is the only one for which you are responsible. Your neighbor's tongue may need care also, but that is his business; this is yours to see to.
Watch your tongue; it needs watching. It is a fire—watch it. It is the helm which guides the vessel. Let the Helmsman keep wide awake. It can bless or it can curse; it can poison or heal; it can pierce hearts or brighten; it can sow discord or separate chief friends. Watch your tongue, no one but you can take care of that tongue. Your neighbors may wish they could bribe it, but they can't do it.

Obedience is a Beauty.
"If ever papers are laid form at the breakfast table, facial deshabille is even more so," declares a charming hostess, who is also the mother of a large and happy family. "Why, I consider it as much a woman's duty to wear a smile in the morning as to brush her hair and wash her face. As I always feel like tilling, but I don't always feel like putting on my shoes; still I wouldn't consider that any excuse for appearing here-footed at the breakfast table, would you? Oh, yes, one can always smile when one wants to. Now, just turn the corners of your mouth up for a minute and take the wrinkles out of your forehead and see how much happier you feel at once. There are two sides to this little matter as usual. The one of one's features has a distinct reflex action on one's self, one's temper and one's influence. That was Dolan's facial principle, you know, or, as a more fanciful and recent advocate has it
"Make your wrinkles a means of greeting your face at the grin, and by and by you'll be able to live up to it." The old saying, "Laugh and grow fat," is another way of stating the case. Net-ing makes wrinkles like worry and

WHEAT AND TARES.

The man who works is happy!

Many a girl will wait her brows who wouldn't darn a stocking.

Life is too short to waste.

A man will always believe you are flattering him unless you are speaking of his great intelligence or his good looks.

I am only one,
But I am one;
I cannot do everything
But I can do something!
What I can do, I ought to do
And by the grace of God I will do!

A man never borrows the scales of Justice for the purpose of weighing the shortcomings of his neighbor.

So I will trudge with heart elate,
And feet with courage shod,
For that which men call change and fate
Is the handiwork of God.
—Alice Carey.

Some men are born great, some achieve greatness, and others put up a successful bluff.

Teach by your lives!—Bonar.

What this world needs is an additional supply of men and women who talk less and say more.

Look for what is best in all.
Even a woman has to pay for her experience, but she generally wants hers at bargain prices.

Keep the bright side out.

It may be true that money talks, but it is so frequently tight that its conversation is hardly worth repeating.

Beauty and Truth, and all that these contain,
Drop not like ripened fruit about our feet;
We climb to them through years of sweat and pain;
Without long struggle, none did e'er attain.

The downward look from Quiet's blissful seat.

It takes a woman or a phonograph
cylinder to talk while running around.

Let us be such as help the life of the future.

Some people's minds work so cleverly they will jump into a river to get out of the rain.

In the divine kingdom the place of service is the one of sovereignty.

The things which come to the man who waits are generally the wrong ones.

Revenge a wrong by forgiving it.—
Latin.—Baltimore Sun.

Some men repeat their bad actions;
most of them regret their good ones.

melancholy. Talk about the secret of eternal youth—why, there's nothing that will keep complexion, digestion and circulation in order like an habitually cheery, happy frame of mind.
And the very first step of this is to wear a cheery, happy "frame of face," as my very small boy said the other day. Every woman of us would like to be beautiful. Well, there's the "face that's good to look upon," and the one with faultless features. The former can be made, line by line, muscle by muscle, and in act results it often out-ranks the one of faultless features. As a cosmetic I know no better prescription than a cheerful countenance. In fact, I don't consider any woman well groomed and groomed in perfect taste unless she wears one."

The Heavenly Bait.

Mrs. Ardely Van Teller, hearing
a great commotion in her drawing room, hastened in and found two maids brandishing dust-cloths and shouting shrill acclamations at each other in front of a little copy of Raphael's cherubs.

"Katie! Katie!" she cried. "What is the matter?"
"Oh, ma'am, excuse me," Katie apologized, through there was a gleam of triumph in her eye. "It's only Rosie, ma'am. You see she's only in the country this two weeks, and she's so given 'the preening.' She says that two pictures is better, and I'm correcting her; they're twins."—Harper's Weekly.

The Deacon Porter house on lower Main street occupied by Len Hall, has been recently repaired and painted.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cole are enjoying a vacation in town, visiting Mrs. William Cole.

L. W. White's mounted animal exhibit in his store window draws many sightseers. He has a fine Canadian Lynx and two bear cubs that appear like living subjects.

Mr. C. H. Chick has struck water at last in his well. After digging and drilling down twenty feet, he secured the precious fluid so long sought. He will use the compressed air system to distribute the water through his residence.

The residents on Alpine street near the Norway and Paris town line are in a pleasant mood because incessant flights are being placed along that highway. In the past, Egyptian darkness prevailed on moonless nights but hereafter that locality will be as well lighted as any part of South Paris Corporation.

Motion pictures and illustrated songs are surely a success in the Opera House. Three changes are offered each week and the public express their appreciation by a general turnout especially Saturday evenings.

The first of a series of assemblies was held in the Opera House last Friday evening. Swastika Orchestra of So. Paris furnished excellent music for the dancing. The attendance was large.

Miss Miss Jewett, well known in the two villages as a skillful nurse has been appointed first assistant nurse in Bellevue Hospital, New York. This position came wholly because of ability and not a gift. Miss Jewett's friends are highly pleased with her well earned success, knowing she will fill acceptably this responsible position.

La Barre Brothers Minstrels appeared here Tuesday evening before a good house. This is their second year on the road and are winning friends wherever they show. Eddie La Barre will be remembered as the principal comedian with the Lucier's Minstrels that visited Oxford County villages for so many years.

Quite a good sized delegation from this village attended the Oxford Association of Universalists at West Paris Wednesday and Thursday. Rev. J. H. Little was the leader in one of the services Thursday forenoon.

William Ripley, for a long time the popular driver of A. W. Walker & Son's ice cart has accepted a position with an ice company in Portland and gone there to work. For a hustler, Mr. Ripley has few equals and we are of the opinion that it will take the Walker a long time to find a man that can deliver as much ice in the same amount of time as he can.

Aunt Harriet Newell, 63 years of age, from Sumner, has been the guest of Mrs. J. D. Haynes for several days. Mrs. Newell's activity and ability to look after herself is truly wonderful for one of her advanced years. From here she went to Mechanic Falls to visit other relatives before her return home.

Rev. Merrill C. Ward of Norway, delivered an interesting and very effective sermon at the Universalist church, Sunday.

Monday evening, November 2nd, at the Bijou Theatre will be given an entertainment, the proceeds of which will be given by Messrs. Hodgkins and Robbins to the Universalist church to be added to the pipe organ fund which was started several years ago. The program will consist of "The Little Minstrels" a minstrel show by the children in charge of Mrs. I. F. Andrews, moving pictures, illustrated songs, selections by the Bijou Quartette and music by the Swastika Orchestra. A fine entertainment is assured. "The Little Minstrels" will be repeated in Good Friday Hall the next night in connection with the regular November supper of the Good Cheer Society.

The Bates U. of M. foot ball game at Lewiston, next Saturday is well advertised in this village and as it is the only one of the championship games to be played in Lewiston it will draw a good crowd from here. The supporters of the two colleges are about evenly divided, Paris having several students attending school.

Forest fires have again been raging in our midst. On the Hebron road in the south end of the town a fire has covered about 85 acres of land, most of which belongs to the Paris Manufacturing ing Co. Hard work was necessary to get it under control and a watch will have to be kept until we get a good rain. As it was mostly small growth, the damage was not large. Another fire broke out on land owned by E. N. Haskell but it was discovered before it had made much headway and checked with small damage. This fire was a short distance south of the railroad bridge.

Friday evening will be observed by the Seneca Club as gentlemen's night. The affair will be held in G. A. R. Hall. The regular meeting of the club next Monday night will be with Mrs. Wirt Stanley. Miss Maud Douglass will assist Mrs. Stanley as hostess.

FIRST ONE THAT TOLD TRUTH.

Exceptional Answer That Satisfied Bank Officer.

A young man in quest of a situation entered the apartment of a high bank officer and made known his errand.

"Well," kindly said the captain of finance, "there's an opening in the bank for the right young man, and there have been several applicants for it already. Are you energetic and willing to learn?"

"Try me, sir."

"That's good for a starter. Do you gamble?"

"No, sir. I have a mother to support and can't risk my earnings that way."

"Ahem. Now"—here the great man regarded himself before his applicant, an indication that the most important question was now to come. "Do you ever go fishing?"

"Yes, sir," replied the young man without hesitation. "Was fishing yesterday."

"Ah! and what kind of a catch did you make?"

"Only one little perch," smiled he.

"Good! You're the young man I've been seeking. All the others answered up all right until I put that last question; then they lied!"

A healthy man is a king in his own right; an unhealthy man is an unhappy slave. Barlock Blood Bitters builds up sound health—keeps you well.

BOSTON LAUNDRY GUTTED BY FIRE.

Fire which spread with great rapidity through the four floors of the wooden building occupied by the Banker Hill laundry company at 14 Danvers street, Charlestown, just before the closing hour, Thursday, completely destroyed the plant and caused a panic among the 40 girls employed in the place.

The fire was confined to the building and caused a loss of $25,000.

The fire started from some unknown cause in the storeroom. Most of the girls were working on the third and fourth floors. They were able to make their way out of the building by the narrow stairway on the front of the building. These girls became hysterical, however, and rushed to the top of the building. Engineer E. D. Moore and superintendent C. F. Hill went after the girls and kept them from jumping.

They were taken in charge by the two men and led back to the second floor, from where they were dropped out of a window to the roof of a shed and from there taken down by men in L. street. None were injured.

ARE WE TO ASSIMILATE OR BE ASSIMILATED.

We have before called attention to the circumstance that in the New England States, New York and to the South, a new type of man was evolved, out of the conditions, environments, and mixture of the English, Scotch, French, Dutch, and Celtic races, in social and business relations and marriage.

It is our claim and firm belief that the type is a great improvement upon all existing general types in the world. It is also true that the Anglo Saxon, or the English characteristics, are the ruling elements in the new type.

It is not possible of determination whether a still superior type would have been created if one of the other races had predominated in the amalgamation. It is not our purpose to speculate upon that; for the English blood does not predominate in the veins of the writer, he has certainly no prejudice in favor of the idea that the Anglo Saxon is the superior blood; but to draw conclusions from the fact that the amalgamation produced a character of society that has proved beneficial to mankind, and has no equal on the globe.

In stating this, we are mindful of the short comings and long reachings of the Yankee—we acknowledge the shortcomings, and often times tricker in trade of a class of the new type of man; we doubt if the other nations of Christendom show to better advantage in that respect however, and we admit in the whole type an inferiority in manners that results in an unfavorable impression upon such a people as the French and the Higher English class. Also we admit a certain narrowness of mental and moral perceptions, that have retarded the progress of the type—such as its one time religious fanaticism that resulted in the hanging and pressing to death of "witches," and the cutting off of the ears, and boring holes through the tongue, (with red hot irons) of inoffensive Quakers.

In admitting this we feel bound to say that the record of both protestants and catholics in old world countries are more discreditable, and in the comparison the new type—not then fully evolved—merge with credit to itself.

In spite of all these general defects of both present and past times, we find the communities throughout the territory where this type now predominates the best homes, the highest standards of morals and the most law abiding citizens the world has known.

The substance is so great that it has been a modifying effect upon all races that have lately come in contact with it, but holding aloof as we are, and moral standards. It has changed the character of the race in that, and we believe elevating it.

But there are now disquieting signs and they indicate that the new type has reached a climax, and in the clash of the many new races, religious, and moral standards, the Anglo Saxon ideals are being changed—we believe for the worse.

In passing, we wish to remark that the generation of men now coming upon the stage of action—the descendants of this new type—are more or less responsible for the declining Anglo Saxon influence. The reasons will make subject for another editorial. If our standards are to be improved it is to be by the introduction of religion or moral customs of the old world races. We are inclined to think so.

We admit that in individual the industry of certain Latin races, the courage and energy of the men of Celtic blood, and the civility of the Frenchman, and the high class Englishman, and the solid industry and love of knowledge of the Anglo Saxon can be combined and adopted with benefit. But in thus endorsing the best of each we do not admit that if those races supplant the new type, that those features will predominate in the newer type that will evolve.

The vast number now coming to our shores from Europe and Asia, and some from Africa, are bringing with them thousands of years old customs and habits and also the means of perpetuating them—and it is no part of the program that those habits and customs shall be abandoned. There are plenty of evidences that the contrary is the plan, and that hope exists that those customs may be made to over throw our systems.

And what are we doing about it? Will we behold a type of man gaining a foothold here who would introduce such "pastimes" as bull fighting and other inhuman sports, and we proceed to waste our energy in disputing about unimportant things and berating such harmless amusements as theatrical performances, dancing, Sunday excursions and similar exhilarating diversions.

We call attention to the waste of energy, and point out that if we are to stem the torrent of European and Asiatic social and religious ideas, and assimilate, instead of being assimilated, and preserve the Anglo Saxon standard of society, we must eliminate such useless discussions and put some starch into our back bones, fire into our blood, and understanding into our heads and unite and fight for our great principles—not petty political or religious ideas—but the principles—the glory of our constitution—that prohibits the bestowal of titles of nobility and the establishment of a governmental religion.

MANLY A. BRIGHAM.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

On Tuesday of next week the voting citizens of the United States will meet at the polls to cast their ballots for presidential electors, who in turn will elect the man who will fill the highest office in the gift of the American people for the next four years. The privilege of exercising our right of suffrage and having an important part to perform in determining the progress and destiny of a nation, is experienced by the citizens of no other nation in the world, and while the privilege is a rare one, the duty is in no less degree a responsible one.

The people of the State of Maine are seldom among those to shirk any duty or omit any opportunity, much less of Oxford County, and though our state election which has dealt with its local issues and carried with it excitement and enthusiasm has past, and we are all confident of the result on November 3rd as far as the State of Maine is concerned, yet it is to be hoped and it is confidently expected that our county will roll up its usual vote.

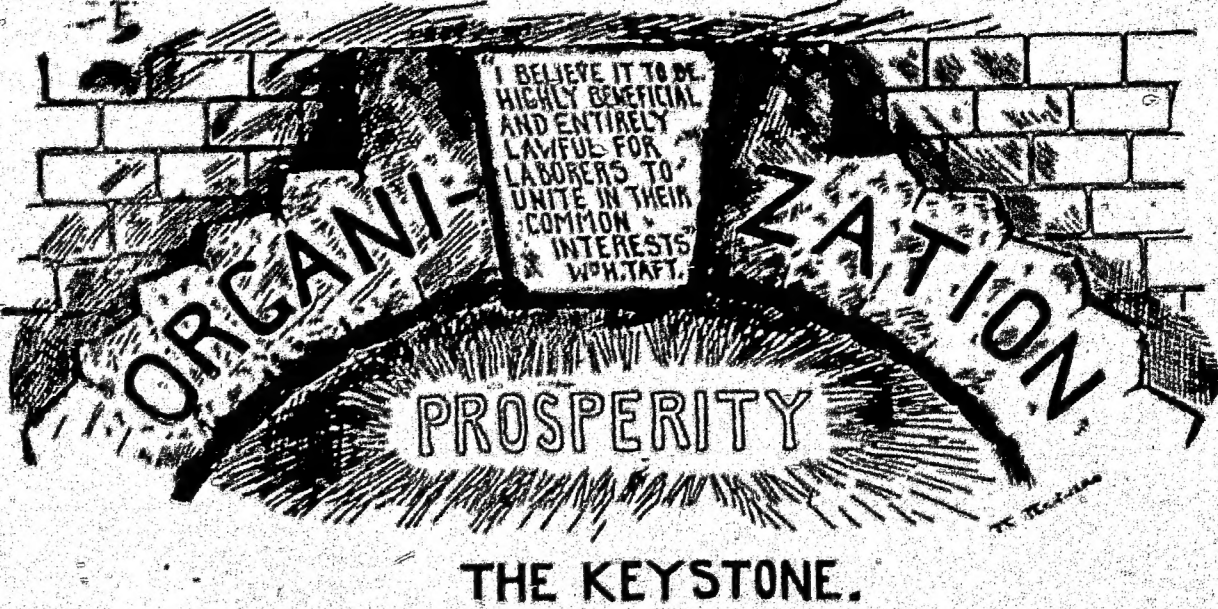

Let us all, regardless of political affiliations, find ourselves at the polls next Tuesday casting our ballots for the man whom we believe should fill our highest office in the gift of our people.

SENATOR HALE.

During the past few weeks very much has been said in the newspapers of Maine concerning Senator Eugene Hale. It is a pleasure to see that there is so much interest in the service of our national government, but rather to the fact that Senator Hale's term expires on March 3, 1911, and that he is a candidate for reelection.

If the attendance of the press of Maine is a great degree, as they doubtless do, the sentiment of the people of Maine, Senator Hale will doubtless be elected to succeed himself in his present term.

Senator Hale was born in Tarrus, Me., June 9, 1848. He was admitted to the bar in 1867 and commenced the practice of law at the age of twenty-one. For nine consecutive years he was attorney for Oxford County and was a member of the Maine Legislature from 1887 to 1890. He was elected representative to Congress in 1890 and served in the 41st, 42nd, 43rd and 44th Congresses. In 1896 he was elected to the U. S. Senate to succeed Hannibal Hamlin, was re-elected in 1901, 1907 and 1908, thus making a congressional experience in the House and Senate of forty-two years. He is today the oldest senator, so far as period of service, in Congress with one, and it is fair to say that he is recognized throughout the length and breadth of the country as one of the foremost men in that body. During his public life he has refused the appointment of Postmaster General by President Cleveland and also Secretary of Navy by President Hughes, in all he is a remarkable man and has had a remarkable career.

THE MAN THE MAIN THING.

WHAT TAFT HAS SAID

Things That Show Intellect and Sound Judgment.

Fallacies of Bryanism Exposed in a Few Sentences—His Position in Regard to the Trusts—Exact Justice the Highest Ideal of Government.

By WALTER J. BALLARD.

Here are some of the striking things Taft has said:

"The Democratic party today as organized is nothing but organized incapacity."—At Montpelier, Vt.

"Bryan would have the initiative and referendum because he distrusts representative government and has no confidence in the ability of the people to select conscientious representatives.

He would take away from courts, because he distrusts the ability of judges to resist the malign influences of the money power, the power to enforce their own orders."—At Columbus, O.

"Anything which makes capital idle or which reduces or destroys it must reduce both wages and the opportunity to earn wages."—At Cooper Union, New York City.

"The source of the administration has only been directed against such organized capital as was violating the statutes of the United States and no other. The business men of our community as a whole are honest and their methods are sound."—At Boston, Mass.

"The so called colonial policy of the United States has added to our trade already something over a hundred million dollars a year."—At Cleveland, O.

"The administration of exact justice by courts without fear or favor, unmoved by the influence of the wealthy or the threats of the demagogue, is the highest ideal that a government of the people can strive for, and any means by which a sailor, however unpopular or poor, is deprived of enjoying this are to be condemned."—At Columbus, O.

"I believe that a navy is the greatest insurer of peace that we could possibly have—a navy commensurate with our resources, and commensurate with our coast line, and commensurate with the number of dependencies we have, and commensurate with our population, and commensurate with our influence as a world power."—At Cleveland, O.

"If we assume control over a people for the benefit of that people (as the Philippines) and with the purpose of developing them to a self governing capacity and with the intention of giving them the right to become independent when they shall show themselves fit, the charge that we are imperialists is utterly without foundation."—At Cleveland, O.

"The present business system of the country rests on the protective tariff, and any attempt to change it to a free trade basis will certainly lead to disaster."—At Columbus, O.

"The Democratic party has no policy which the country can depend upon. Its whole stock in trade is that of irresponsible criticism and obstruction, and when charged with the responsibility of doing anything it utterly fails."—At Greenboro, N. C.

"Mr. Bryan asks me what I would do with the trusts. I answer that I would restrain all unlawful trusts with all the efficiency of injunctive process and would punish with the severity of criminal prosecution every attempt on the part of aggregated capital to suppress competition."—At Columbus, O.

"As a party shows itself homogeneous, able to grasp the truth with respect to new issues, able to discard unimportant differences of opinion, sensitive with respect to the successful maintenance of government and highly charged with the responsibility of its obligation to the people at large it establishes its claim to its confidence in the public and to its continuance in political power."—At Kansas City, Mo.

"The course of the Republican party since its organization in 1855 and its real assumption of control in 1861 down to the present day is remarkable for the foresight and ability of its leaders, for the discipline and solidarity of its members, for its efficiency and deep sense of responsibility for the preservation and successful maintenance of the government and for the greatest resourcefulness in meeting the various trying and difficult issues which a history of now a full half century has presented for solution."—At Kansas City, Mo.

At twenty Mr. Taft was graduated from Yale, at twenty-two he was admitted to the bar, at twenty-three he was assistant prosecutor of Cincinnati, at twenty-four he was collector of internal revenue, at twenty-nine superior court judge in Ohio and at thirty-three justice of the peace in the United States. When he received his degree of doctor of laws from Yale he was thirty-six and the youngest man upon whom the degree had ever been conferred.

With his children Mr. Taft is mighty charming, especially with Charley, his youngest. He likes babies, too, and they like him.

Complicated.

He says Mrs. Taft is a pretty complex individual. Have you found her so?

Oh—Well, both she and her mother look at the same time and so it's pretty hard to understand her—Taft's Mother.

"The course of the Republican party since its organization in 1855 and its real assumption of control in 1861 down to the present day is remarkable for the foresight and ability of its leaders, for the discipline and solidarity of its members, for its efficiency and deep sense of responsibility for the preservation and successful maintenance of the government and for the greatest resourcefulness in meeting the various trying and difficult issues which a history of now a full half century has presented for solution."—At Kansas City, Mo.

At twenty Mr. Taft was graduated from Yale, at twenty-two he was admitted to the bar, at twenty-three he was assistant prosecutor of Cincinnati, at twenty-four he was collector of internal revenue, at twenty-nine superior court judge in Ohio and at thirty-three justice of the peace in the United States. When he received his degree of doctor of laws from Yale he was thirty-six and the youngest man upon whom the degree had ever been conferred.

With his children Mr. Taft is mighty charming, especially with Charley, his youngest. He likes babies, too, and they like him.

Complicated.

He says Mrs. Taft is a pretty complex individual. Have you found her so?

Oh—Well, both she and her mother look at the same time and so it's pretty hard to understand her—Taft's Mother.

Wheels Will Go Round if Taft Is Elected.

SO SAY MANUFACTURERS.

The National Association of Manufacturers, through its organ, American Industries, has just completed a canvass of its 3,000 members throughout the United States in nearly every line of trade to ascertain the country's commercial status twelve months after the panic. The canvass was not made to serve any political purpose, and the forthcoming election was not mentioned, but the members of the association have taken advantage of one of the questions to declare that prosperity depends upon the election of Taft.

The canvass was made by means of letters sent out two weeks ago. Four questions were asked of the members relating to the exact condition of trade at present, the percentage of increase in business in the last ten months, the possibilities for future improvement and any suggestions which might serve to better future conditions. Everybody answered the last question by suggesting that Taft be elected.

Agricultural implements show the largest percentage of increase and vehicles the lowest. The textiles show a small percentage of increase with a rather unfavorable outlook, while leather and its manufactures and the lumber industry are fairly satisfied and optimistic. Very little attention is paid to the tariff as a disturbing element, but a number of manufacturers, especially those interested in railway supplies and allied trades, complain against pending or threatened railway legislation.

The steel trade and the movement of pig iron, which form the most accurate barometer of trade conditions, make a distinctly encouraging report, 79 per cent of the iron and steel plants in the association report conditions good, 78 per cent have had an increase during the last ten months, and 57 per cent have reason to believe that prospects for the immediate future are reassuring. Machinery, including all classes throughout the country, shows present conditions 68 per cent good, and 70 per cent of the machinery manufacturers have had an increase since Jan. 1 last. Only one manufacturer of agricultural implements is pessimistic regarding the future.

In food products 80 per cent report business good, 94 per cent have had an increase, and all are optimistic for the future. Lumbermen report 81 per cent good, and 80 per cent have had an increase, while 93 per cent of them are hopeful for the future. Of the leather manufacturers 61 per cent report good, 94 per cent have had an increase, and 93 per cent are optimistic.

Other percentages from the various trades reporting conditions good, an increase of business and good possibilities for the future are as follows: Drugs and hardware, 77, 87 and 92; dress and chemicals, 83, 80 and 83; paper and printing, 70, 70 and 94; textiles, 68, 71 and 80; vehicles, 52, 50 and 82.

James W. Van Cleave, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, says of the outlook:

"Nearly every issue of the trades papers all over the country reports the reopening of steel, cotton and woolen mills and the increase in the working forces of some of these already open. There are fewer idle persons in the United States now than at any previous time since the beginning of the war last November. Aside from the chance—the very remote chance—that Bryan may be elected there is not a cloud on the business horizon, so far as I can see at this moment.

"Let it be remembered that in the shape in which it presents itself tariff adjustment will cause no perceptible shift in the revival of trade. By its removal and the repeated promises of its candidate the dominant party to plunge it to revision. Just as I have urged, the revising is to be done by a direct action of congress just as soon as the new president enters office in March, 1909. The adjustments will be made to the interest of the American manufacturer, the American worker and the American consumer and will be in the interest of the manufacturers and workers of Great Britain, Germany, Japan, and the rest of Europe and Asia."

As a matter of fact Mr. Taft probably has the record. He resigned as assistant prosecutor of Cincinnati to become federal judge collector, resigned to become a superior court judge, resigned to become a justice of the peace, resigned to become federal court judge, resigned to become the Philippine commissioner, resigned to become secretary of war and finally resigned that to run for president.

Each of Mr. Taft's three brothers is a lawyer, although Charles P. does more fun in running a newspaper than he does in law, and Homer has made a fortune in his life work, being the head of the Taft school in Waterville, Conn. Henry W. Taft is one of the leaders of the New York bar.

If Tom Watson has found the best platform, as he contends, he should forward it to Lincoln, Neb., without delay. It is William Jennings Bryan's personal property. His bill should be found saved in the south-west corner of the cheap money plank.

two duets by Mrs. Walker and Mr. Irish, the selections being taken from the 'Red Mill' music, Miss Ruby Clark of South Paris was present and sang "That's the Way of June" and for an encore "I Love You Truly." The little Misses Dorothy and Esther Shepherd gave a pleasing number, one of them singing to the other's accompaniment.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by Mrs. L. M. Irish, Mrs. G. E. Howe, Misses Burditt, Allen, Sawtelle and Rollins, members of the Young People's Society which was formed about two years ago by Mr. Webber.

Before the departure of the guests Mr. E. W. Brown came forward and made very fitting remarks in which he expressed himself in behalf of the church as being grieved at the loss of the beloved pastor and wife. He spoke of the help that they had given the church and said that he wished that the occasion was over so welcome them to the town instead of one to say good by. He then presented Mr. and Mrs. Webber with a beautiful tea set in old Ivory china, which was a gift of the Y. P. C. U.

The guests then remained for a few minutes to say good by and wish God speed in the new field of work.

Among those present at the reception were Rev. and Mrs. Harold Hanson of the Baptist church, Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Fisher of the Mexico Congregational church, Rev. G. A. Martin of the Methodist church, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Starbuck and daughter, Blandine of Dixfield.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTIONGranted by Judge Bird in Connection with Rumford Strike.*The Papers were Served Wednesday Afternoon. The Purpose of the Injunction.

On account of the strike at Rumford and the various disturbances which have been made during the past few weeks, more especially since an attempt has been made to place non-union men in place of the strikers, the International Paper Co. has brought a suit in equity against the following parties:

Local Number 9 of International Brotherhood of Paper Makers and Local Number 16 of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers of International Brotherhood of Paper Makers and Frank Taylor, Ed. Sheehan, Thomas Donahue, John Snyder, John Spencer, Polite White, Fred Dunn, Thomas Thibault, Arthur Dunham, Thomas Conway, John Dodd, William Dodd, Daniel Dougherty, James Cope, William Davidson, William Noonan, Ed. Ross, Jack Gillman, C. McGinnis, Chris Burt, Joseph Brown, Augustus McNeil, Charles Tobin, Joseph Plisky, John Barrett, Cornelius Collins, Henry Murphy, Frank Roy and R. McDonald, all of Rumford and in the County of Oxford.

This suit of equity asks for a permanent injunction to restrain these men, their agents, servants or attorneys from interfering in any way with the men now employed by said Company, or from interfering in any way with the business or property of said Company.

A temporary injunction has been granted by Judge Bird, who is attending the October term of Court at So. Paris, on the filing of a bond by the International Paper Co., with the clerk of courts, in the sum of $10,000, conditioned to pay all damages and costs caused by issuing such temporary injunction, in case said Company is not found entitled to the permanent injunction which it seeks and for which it asks.

The papers were served Wednesday afternoon and the equity suit is returnable at "December Rules," that is, on the first Tuesday of December, (rule days for days of equity suits are the first Tuesday of each month.) The defendants have thirty days from the return day in which to file their answer or plea.

This temporary injunction is for restraining the defendants from making any interference with the men now employed by the Company or injuring the Company's business in any way, until the hearing is had, and should there be any violation of this injunction the violators may be seized upon and committed to the County jail for contempt of court.

FIRE IN SUCCESS.

A forest fire was discovered burning in Success, between Speckle Mt. and Red Bridge on Tuesday, Oct. 29 and has been raging ever since. Men from Gratton and Upton also a crew from Hawkin's Camps are fighting it. They have dug, ditched and carried water and tried in vain to stop it; and since there has been no wind for the past few days they have had it practically under control, but the wind of Sunday made a much harder fight for them. It has burned over an area of 30 acres and has even burned underneath the ground to the depth of four feet, cutting off the roots of the trees.

They have thus far kept it within bounds, and it is hoped that they can, until the rain comes to give the ground a good soaking; as that alone is the only thing that will actually stop it altogether. If it should get away from them it would sweep all in its path in whichever direction it might go. We hope and trust these clouds mean rain. The origin of the fire is not known.

CATHOLIC MISSION.

At the church of St. Jean de Baptiste in Rumford is being held a mission similar to the one conducted at the church two years ago. The mission was opened Sunday by Rev. Fr. Froulx of Quebec, who is assisting Rev. Fr. LaLonde who has charge of the services at the former mission.

The meetings are held each morning and evening and are largely attended. This week the services are for the ladies and next week only the men will attend.

Saddest of the Sad.
The sad, when you must borrow cash,
To find your friend won't lend it;
To be in jail for taking graft,
And can't get out to spend it.
The sad to walk where peaches grow,
And be too short to reach them;
To watch a young woman write,
And not be asked to preach them.

The sad to learn of scandal, through
A key-hole, so can't tell it.
To read the joke you called your own,
Before you'd time to tell it.
But this is by far the saddest fate
The man will ever share any:
To be a vine and want to twine,
And have no oak to twine on.

RUMFORD HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

There has been only three days of school this week on account of the State teachers' convention held in Portland, Oct. 29, 30 and 31, of which all the high school teachers are in attendance. After an exciting base ball game played on Saturday, between the freshmen team and the one organized from the sophomore and junior classes, the score stood 10 to 12 in favor of the latter team.

SPORTING CAMPS BURNED.

The Head River pond sporting camp, in Dallas plantation, owned by Fred B. Allen of Farmington, were Saturday destroyed by fire. The flames then spread to valuable timberlands owned by the J. Manchester Haynes estate of Augusta. The camp, of which there were nine, including six log cabins, were valued at $4,000. The caretaker, Nathaniel Moody, had just moved across the pond when he saw the camp buildings burst into flames.

EAST DIXFIELD.

Mrs. O. S. Burgess passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Saver, where she had been a great sufferer for the past ten weeks. She had suffered from asthma and bronchitis for about ten years. For two years she had been unable to do any work. She lived with her children where she found a ready welcome. She became ill a few weeks ago but never complained of grasping in darkness. She was ready to go and yet was willing to wait till the time.

She was dressed very day, but Friday night about six she commenced to grow sicker and her daughter was up all night. About three in the morning she seemed easier and Mrs. Saver laid down on a couch; she went about four to her mother's bedside and she was breathing her last.

The funeral was Sunday at the Dixfield schoolhouse. Elder Hansonford spoke words of comfort to the family. She leaves five sons and one daughter. The deceased was 67 years, 5 months and 8 days old. The flowers were many and beautiful. Many of her old friends and neighbors were there to pay the last tribute to the one they loved.

CLEVELAND BOY LIKE FATHER.

Late President's Son Proves Good Sportsman—Shoots Rabbit.

Richard Cleveland, the 11 year-old son of the late President Cleveland, was a prominent figure in the spring of the gunning season at Woodside, the home of William McFarlane, at Somerville, N. J.

For many years Mr. Cleveland gunned over Mr. McFarlane's preserves, and it was always the ex-President's ambition that his son should be a sportsman. Master Cleveland, accompanied by Dr. Paul van Dyke of Princeton, sustained the reputation of his father and shot the first and only rabbit killed by the party. The feat was accomplished by means of a double-barreled shotgun, presented to the boy by Richard Harding Davis. The ex-President's old hunting dog accompanied the gunners.

A well-known druggist here in town is authority that these ingredients are all harmless and easily mixed at home by shaking well in a bottle. This mixture has a peculiar healing and soothing effect upon the entire kidney and urinary structure, and often overcomes the worst forms of Rheumatism in just a little while. This mixture is said to remove all blood disorders and cure the Rheumatism by forcing the kidneys to filter and strain from the blood and system all uric acid and foul, decomposed waste matter, which cause these afflictions. Try it if you aren't well. Save the prescription.

BUCKNER BOLTS BRYAN

Veteran Kentucky Democrat Criticizes Nebraskan.

CALLS HIM "JACK O' LANTERN."

Declares For Taft as a Man Qualified by Training and Experience to Discharge the Duties of the Presidency.

General Simon Bolivar Buckner of Kentucky, the nominee of the sound money Democrats in 1896, having been asked by a sound money Democrat of Missouri for an expression of opinion on the present political situation, says:

Mr. Bryan's platform has many planks which express an ardent wish to see many things accomplished, but it seems to me to suggest any policy which will tend to promote the desired results. It seems that in his whole political career he has been drifting from place to place, flashing in every direction a sort of Jack o' lantern, as a beacon light to attract to his support numerous political bands wandering through a wilderness of error, each in pursuit of its own special will of the whip, each straying farther than the other from the plain highway of Democracy and having but one purpose in common—the overthrow of the existing order of society and the erection upon its ruins of a governmental fabric which, if constructed, must inevitably crumble under the mutually repellent action of its own discordant elements, leaving behind only a chaotic chaos from which it would require generations of mankind to evolve a sane and stable government. I believe there is enough of true patriotism in all the parties of our country to save us from the peril that threaten the destruction of our institutions.

EXPLANATORY, NOT EXCLAMATORY. (Hartford Courant.)

Judge Taft is not an exclamatory man, but an explanatory man. He is not denunciatory, but analytic. His mind does not ring, but it thinks. His nature is not pugnacious, but conciliatory. His attitude is not that of an opponent, but that of an intelligent and candid friend. His instinct is to deal fairly and justly by all men, no matter what they think or say about him—to abhor the sin, but to deal kindly with the sinner. He does not play upon public emotions—he does not know how—but he both knows how and has the courage to enlighten the public sense. He is a serene, instructed, experienced and self-reliant figure in the noisy whirl of our politics.

Shattering an Illusion.

The office was seeking the man. "Not that I care anything about him," explained the office, "but merely as a concession to the popular idea that I ought to seek him."

Having thus satisfied the ethical requirements of the case, the office, wearying of the perfunctory search, reached out and grabbed a man who was seeking the office.—Chicago Tribune.

An Authority.

"They say the mole will starve to death in a day," remarked the board-lughouse lady.

"How do you know?" replied the thin boarder. "Have you had any around here?"—Yonkers Statesman.

Each season sees the wedding ceremony becoming more and more of a theatrical pageant, until nowadays the only one of the protagonists who appears to be the character of an English gentleman is the bridegroom. Bride and bridesmaids run riot in medieval robes, director's fantasies, and even in the wanda, wreaths, and ebullitions of ancient Hellas, while the unfortunate small boys who officiate are dressed in any fearful and degrading fashion that may happen to please their maternal parents. Needless to say, these wretched "fool their position solemnly," and will possibly take their revenge later on by eschewing matrimony altogether, or by forcing their brides to be married—from a taxicab—at a registrar's office.—London Sketch.

Get Kipling's Autograph.

Rudyard Kipling, on his last homeward voyage from South Africa, not so long ago, was watched carefully by a lady autograph hunter who begged to approach him, album in hand, but did not dare to do so. One morning she saw him scribble on one of the little cards which are used when passengers order any drinks they may require. These cards are collected into little bundles at the end of the week and then redeemed. The lady hurriedly dashed after the steward who had the card, and begged to be allowed to keep it and pay for the order, which read: "Two soups and one whisky," and the signature was "R. Kipling."

Undismayed, "No," said the steward, "I cannot give you any money."

THE FUTURE OF MAINE.

State Assessor Pottle Believes That It Has a Great One.

George Pottle of Lewiston, a member of the State Board of Assessors, believes that Maine has a great future especially in the way of agriculture and industries. He bases this upon the facts found by the board during the past year's work.

He says that farms are worth more now than five years ago and are not assessed, all of them, for their full value. The real estate dealers are now making as much effort to sell farms as city lots and this makes an increased activity in this line. Another thing is the boom during the past year in the building line.

Maine's growth has been based in the past few years and will be in the future on the growth of her industries and these have a great prospect as by the great power in this state manufacturers are being attracted here. This, too, helps increase the value of the farms.

Mr. Pottle expresses himself as a firm believer in the potato industry in the State as one whose possibilities have not yet been half conceived. It is his opinion that Aroostook county will not long hold the potato exclusively, as the vegetable may be raised in any county in the State with the proper attention. This would also have a tendency to raise the value of farms and in all Mr. Pottle thinks that Maine has a fine prospect in the future.—Ban.

UNITED STATES COURT OF CLAIMS

The Publishers of Webster's International Dictionary allege that it is, in fact, the popular and most thoroughly revised in every detail, and vastly enriched in every part, with the purpose of adapting it to meet the larger and more exacting requirements of another generation.

We are of the opinion that this allegation most clearly and accurately describes the work that has been accomplished and the result that has been reached. The Dictionary, as it now stands, has been thoroughly re-edited in every detail, has been corrected in every part, and is admirably adapted to meet the larger and more exacting requirements of another generation which demands more of popular knowledge than any generation that the world has ever contained.

It is perhaps needless to add that we refer to the Dictionary in our judicial work as of the highest authority in accuracy of definition and that in the future as in the past it will be the source of constant reference.

FEEBLE OLD LADY

Has Strength Restored By Vinal

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewistown, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably resulted in my lungs and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinal, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinal. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, feeble children, weak, run-down persons, and after stomach, Vinal is unrivaled. It is able to give satisfaction to all who use it.

ANDOVER

The Happenings of the week
as Told by Our Correspondent.

Friday evening occurred the 12th anniversary of the Cabot Lodge, K. of P., and all the Knights and their families and friends were invited to celebrate the event at the Town Hall. The first thing on the program was a short musical entertainment, interspersed with readings, and we do not desire to forget the bear story told by brother Fred Merrill of Roxbury.

The true story for he was there himself and was the main factor in the capture of said bear. He certainly told the story well and the joke was not all on himself either. After the entertainment a supper of chicken pie and pastry was much enjoyed and then an informal dance finished the evening's pleasure. MAINE LUMBERMEN

Hold Important Meeting, Friday.

The serious situation in the State in regard to forest fires was the occasion of a meeting of the timberland owners, railroad representatives and others held at the State land office Friday.

The meeting was presided over by Hon. Wm. T. Haines of Waterville and the situation was gone over in an informal way. There was a general feeling that good work had been done, but that more of it was needed, especially in the way of patrolling of the forests.

All were in favor of the enactment of some law whereby the Governor will have authority in times of extreme drought to issue a proclamation prohibiting sportsmen from entering the woods. As a penalty for disobeying such proclamation it was suggested that a jail sentence be imposed rather than a fine of any amount.

Organizations of timberland owners, railroads, manufacturers and the public in general in the way of protection of the forests against fire was suggested, having it all centralized in the State as the governing power, instead of each interest working for itself.

To care for the unpaid bills that are due men who have been fighting fire since the State's appropriation was exhausted was decided upon, the general plan suggested being for the owners of the land on which the fire occurred to pay the bills now and then the matter of the State's contribution to the future conservation.

DIXFIELD ITEMS.

The Happenings of the Week
as gathered by the Citizen Reporter.

Rev. H. H. Hoyt, the State missionary, gave a very helpful and impressive discourse at the Universalist church, Sunday afternoon. His scripture reading was from the 8th chapter of 1st Corinthians. His subject was "The Christian Service," showing a vast difference from working simply and wholly for the reward; and rendering the service from a sense of duty, without thought of the reward. A word of praise should be extended the chorus choir, for their helpfulness in the service. There will be a service next Sunday afternoon at the usual time at Universalist church. Rev. E. W. Gaskin of Derby, N. H., will be present. The church Aid Society will meet this Thursday afternoon at their rooms for work and to make plans for annual sale.

A very pleasant gathering occurred at the home of John and Louise Trask on Monday the 19th, at which time a dinner party was given in honor of Mrs. Sarah Mitchell of Boston, it being her 74th birthday. The scripture lesson-read by Rev. E. S. Longley at P. B. church Sunday a. m. was from St. Luke, 11th chapter and Romans, 12th chapter. Text was from Luke 11th chapter 47th verse, showing that the Christian's life was not simply one of forms and ceremonies, "paying tithes in annis mint and cummin and leaving the weightier matters of truth, justice and judgement." The whole discourse was full of practical and helpful thoughts. Both forenoon and evening services were well attended.

GENERAL NEWS.

A Children's Hospital will be established in Portland at once and will be opened for cases before the first of the year. It will be a free charitable institution for the treatment of poor children, and no other classes will be accepted in it or receive attention. The project, which has been quietly discussed for some time has been made possible through the generosity of citizens in all parts of the State. Dr. E. G. Abbott of Portland was the prime mover of the enterprise, and the largest contributions and those who have done the most to make the establishment of the hospital possible are the Hon. A. H. Shaw of Bath, Harry Butler, Maj. S. W. Thaxter, Col. Frederick Hale, George F. Duncan, Hugh J. Chisholm, Henry Deering and P. E. Dolan of Portland. The purpose of the hospital in particular is for treatment of deformities in children from all parts of the State. The promoters argue that statistics show that each human life is worth $1,000 to the State at the very least calculation and the prevention of deformity and pain will tend to lessen the number of dependents and criminals. This is the economic side of the question, while the appeal for support for such an institution on humanitarian grounds has met with a ready response.

In the hope of preventing the starting of additional forest fires in Vermont, Governor Charles H. Foy issued a proclamation suspending the hunting season in that state until November 8. This was done under the authority of an emergency bill which was rushed through both branches of the Legislature and signed by the governor Wednesday. The bill provides that no one shall hunt game of any sort between the time the governor issued his proclamation and November 8 and that anyone convicted of violating this statute shall be fined $100. The need of such legislation was brought home to the members of the general assembly by the Vermont fires now in progress in the Vermont woodlands and the dry condition of the undergrowth. It is hoped that by the end of the close season sufficient rain will have fallen to make gunning in the woods safe after that time.

Dinner and ball given Wednesday evening in honor of the visiting fleet of battleships, by Premier Katsura in Tokio, at his residence, brought there about 1,500 prominent persons, including all the American officers who were invited to the ball. The guests at the dinner, however, were confined to those holding official positions. There were no set speeches. Premier Katsura proposed the health of President Roosevelt, and American Ambassador O'Brien that of the emperor of Japan. A toast to the fleet by the premier was responded to by Rear Admiral Sperry.

The ball was the most brilliant of the functions of the week and brought Americans and Japanese into the closest touch. American officers dined with wives and daughters of the Japanese, the majority of whom were dressed in European costumes.

The United States battleship fleet steamed out of Yokohama harbor at 9 o'clock Sunday morning for Okazaki, Philippines. The day was beautiful and clear and the warships passing down the bay with a Japanese escort presented a fine appearance.

There was no single desertion from the fleet while there, and not one blue-jacket was absent from his ship last night, and the conduct of the men was remarkably orderly.

President Roosevelt's message thanking the Emperor and the Japanese people for their splendid reception given to the officers and men of the fleet will be handed to the Emperor through the foreign office, to which it was presented by Ambassador Thomas J. O'Brien.

Delayed reports indicate that the storm of Oct. 12, in the Cayagan valley, Manila, was the worst and most destructive within the memory of living inhabitants of the valley. The official figures are not yet available, as in many places have not been heard from, but it seems certain that the number of dead will reach 300.

There was a heavy typhoon and torrential rains throughout the valley and in the mountains.

The highest price received for a robe of ermine yet heard of this season is $250, which was secured by James H. Hamilton of East Face. In addition to this Mr. Hamilton was $200 in prizes on this pair of outfit the present fall by exhibiting them at fair.—Maine Farmer.

One year ago Saturday Oct. 17 was the big freeze in this county, when many thousands of barrels of potatoes were frozen in the ground. Ten frozen on Collins hill pond and many bays availed themselves of the first state of the year. Quite a contrast to the temperature on the corresponding day this year.—Arundel.

RUMFORD MAN FALLS TO HIS DEATH.

George Howard Victim of Fatal Accident.

A terrible accident occurred at the Oxford cutting up mill at Rumford at about noon on Friday when George Howard sustained injuries which caused his death a few hours afterward. Mr. Howard was working on the conveyor which carries the logs several rods away from the mill when he made a misstep and fell a distance of about 35 feet below, landing on a pile of wood.

Both of the man's jaws were broken and it was thought that he was injured internally. The face was so badly mangled that he was hardly recognizable. Mr. Howard did not lose consciousness but lived only about three hours after the fall.

The funeral was held at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon and was largely attended, the Knights of Pythias having charge of the service. The sermon was preached by Rev. Harold Hanson, pastor of the church and the church quartet furnished music.

Mr. Howard was 43 years of age and leaves a wife and two daughters, 10 and 12 years old.

NOTICE.

Bethel, Me., Oct. 17, 1908.

Dear Friends:—Three years ago last April the Mayville Cemetery in Bethel, Maine was incorporated under the name of the "Riverside Cemetery Association." Since its incorporation the citizens of the town have taken a more lively interest in the grounds. Lots have been sold at fair prices, enabling its officers to put something in the bank toward future improvement and care for the grounds throughout all time.

Today we have a cemetery quite creditable to our town, with a faucet so water is at hand during warm weather. The grounds show that some degree of care is being given them as a whole, while some of the lots show the personal interest taken in them by their owners.

It seems that the efforts of the Association are appreciated. Today a friend offers for every dollar contributed to the cemetery fund to give another up to the amount of $300. Contributions will be acknowledged by the officer to whom they are sent. And we are confidently expecting soon to see the fund increased by at least $300.

FLINCH PARTY.

A Pleasant Social Evening Enjoyed at I. O. O. F. Hall.

Last Friday a very pleasant evening was enjoyed at the Flinch Party given under the auspices of the Sunset Nebekah Lodge.

The tables were numbered and each person was given a slip on which was the number of the table, where they were to play and a number by which to find their partner. After the first game it was played progress.

Home made candy, grapes and peanuts were on all the tables. The evening passed quickly and was fully enjoyed by all. Mrs. F. L. Edwards had charge of the evening and passed from table to table making all feel at home, welcoming the coming guests and making it pleasant for all.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Bethel Citizen Shows you the Cure.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them? Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in. Read this Bethel testimony:

J. M. Seavey, living near Elm St., Bethel, Me., says: "I have never needed much medicine as I have always enjoyed good health. However, about six months ago I caught a severe cold and it settled in my kidneys. For weeks afterward I was troubled with a dull pain in the small of my back and my kidneys were sluggish in action. I was restless during the night and felt generally miserable. Learning of Doan's Kidney Pills I went to W. E. Bosserman's drug store, and procured a box. In a very short time I was almost well. I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as a very reliable remedy to any person suffering from kidney disorders."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
